The event most talked of just now is the Charity ball, for the cause for which the young women of the Mattle Rhodes Association labor appeals forcibly to the men and women of the fashionable set. Moreover, the young women themselves belone to families securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not wise for the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin, with the corrigin, with the corrigin and the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin, with the corrigin and the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin and the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin and the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin and the fashionable securely placed in enviable social positions, and if all this were not set the corrigin and the fashionable set. More set the fashionable set is the corrigin and the fashionable set is the corrigin and the fashionable set. More set the fashionable set is the corrigin and th enough to insure the success of the ball, its patrons have only to recall the brilliant history of this annual function, which has come to be an inseparable part of the social life of the city. The Casino has an admirable floor for dancing, an advantage very much lacking in more pretentious halls, and on Thursday evening will be quite transformed by palms and flowers, flags and draperies.

The marriage of Miss Lila Johason and Mr. Leslie Baird will be solemnized Tuesday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian church. Dr. H. D. Jenkins will perform the ceremony. Mr. H. C. Johnson, of Chicago, will give the bride away and Miss Elisa Miller will attend her. The groom will be attended by Mr. Frank Holland, and the ushers will be Mr. Will H. Borland, Mr. Fred Turner, Mr. J. H. Cottingham, Dr. H. C. Hays, Mr. Kenneth Gordon and Mr. Carl Baird. Mrs. C. W. Eoff. Mrs. Carrie Farwell-Voorhees, Mr. G. W. Eloom and Mr. W. J. Murray will sing the wedding music. Mr. E. F. Krelser will be the organist. Afterward a reception for the bridal party and intimate friends will be held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jenkins, 3011 East Seventh street.

F. B. Jenkins, 2011 East Seventh street.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson. of Boston, the well known author, will deliver the last lecture of the Collegiate Alumni series at the residence of Mrs. J. K. Burnham. 2117 Independence boulevard. Monday evening, at $15 o'clock. This is Mrs. Stetson's first appearance here, and her position in the literary world is alone sufficient to attract a large and representative audience. Her subject, "Public Ethics," too, is one in which the cultured part of the community is becoming increasingly interested. The lecture is limited to one hour, after which an informal reception will be held, and light refreshments served by the young women of the association. But a limited number of tickets have been printed. They may be secured from Mrs. George C. Mosher, Mrs. J. F. Downing, Miss Ruth Jenkins, Miss Laura Whipple or of any other member of the association. The funds realized from the annual lecture course go toward the education of a bright and talented young woman now in the Kansas university, who would otherwise be deprived of such advantages.

The ball in aid of the Orphan Boys' home, to be held Wednesday evening, November 29, in Convention hall, is enlisting the united energies of the charitably

"If You Get It Here, It's the Best."

Wines for Family and Medicinal Purposes.

Physicians will tell you that it is essential that wines used in the sick room should be absolutely PURE and HEALTHFUL—that they be dependable wines. That's the only kind we sell, and the kind we've built our reputation on. Pure wine is a stimulant and tonic, while other wines react in their effects, and are dangerous to those in weakened conditions. You can depend on wines bought here.

We also carry complete varieties of the best table wines, both imported and domestic.

We call special attention to a best grade of California Port at 82 a gallon; also a best grade of California Sherry at $2 a gallon.

A large and important event of the past week was the reception given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Carl Hoffman at her handsome home on Gladstone boulevard. A feature of the affair was the large number of Leavenworth people in attendance, 200 invitations having been issued to Mrs. Hoffman's friends in that town. A much larger number were sent out in the city and the spacious apartments with their lavish adornment of flowers and palms were thronged from 2 to 6 o'clock. The Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ruloff Martin entertained 250 guests with a dancing party in Lyceum hall Tuesday evening, the affair being in compliment to their guest, Miss Shug Reaume, of Indianapolis, and also to Mr. and Mrs. James Spencer Adsit, a newly married couple, who are also recent acquisitions to local society. Miss Parks, of Martinsville, Ind., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bridges, was one of the receiving party.

The hall decorations were paims and American Beauty roses, always in effective combination. Mrs. Martin was gowned in flowered organdie over pink silk, a dainty frock to which character was given by butterfly bows of black velvet ribbon.

Mrs. Adsit wore her wedding gown of white brocaded satin trimmed with duchesse lace.

Miss Reaume's gown was of white silk Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ruloff Martin en-white brocaded satin trimmed with duchesse lace.

Miss Reaume's gown was of white silk embroidered with blue forget-me-nots and striped with black. A garniture of coral plak velvet trimmed the low corsage, and a bandeau and bow of the velvet were worn in the hair.

Miss Parks was in green silk, veiled with silk gauze of the same shade, and trimmed with point lace. The East Side Club's delightful dance last Monday evening was attended by window which was filled with palms and American Heauty roses. Pink chrysanthemums decorated the mantel and cabinets. Judge and Mrs. C. E. Moss gave a large dancing party in the banqueting hall at the Coates Thursday evening. for their daughter, Miss Cora Moss. The hall and adjacent corridors and the dining room, where supper was served, was decorated with American Beauty roses and palms. Mr. Castle Moss was also one of the receiving party. The Pive S Club entertained its members Wednesday evening at Warwick hall with a bai masque. The uppermost desire of everyone was to conceal his or her identity from all the others, and how well they succeeded could be plainly realized from the amazement and surprise exhibited when masks were removed.
